In the realm of contemporary literature, the interplay between character and setting is a nuanced dance that shapes the narrative's essence. The setting, often described with painstaking detail, becomes more than a backdrop; it becomes a character, influencing the plot and character development.

Consider, for instance, the barren expanse of the desert in Jhumpa Lahiri's The Namesake. The arid landscape mirrors the sense of isolation felt by the protagonist, Gogol, as he navigates his identity crisis in a foreign land. The relentless sun and vast sands are not mere descriptions; they are the silent witnesses to his inner turmoil.

On the other end of the literary spectrum, there is Arundhati Roy's The God of Small Things. The lush, vibrant Kerala backwaters are not just the setting; they are a character woven into the fabric of the story. The teeming, humid landscape reflects the complex web of human relationships and secrets that unravel in the narrative. This interplay is not confined to contemporary literature alone. In Shakespeare's timeless tragedy Macbeth, the eerie and foreboding setting of the Scottish moors casts a dark shadow over the characters' actions. The moors, shrouded in mist and mystery, serve as an ever-present omen of the impending tragedy.

1. In contemporary literature, how is the relationship between character and setting described in the passage?

- (A.) It is non-existent; characters and settings are entirely separate entities.
- (B.) It is a complex interplay where the setting influences the plot and character development.
- (C.) Characters and settings are interchangeable.
- (D.) Settings are insignificant in contemporary literature.

2. In the novel, The Namesake by Jhumpa Lahiri, what does the barren desert landscape symbolize?

- (A.) A thriving community.
- (B.) The protagonist's sense of isolation and identity crisis.
- (C.) A lush, vibrant setting.
- (D.) A happy, carefree life.

3. What role does the Scottish moors play in Shakespeare's Macbeth?

- (A.) It serves as a beautiful, serene landscape.
- (B.) It has no influence on the characters' actions.
- (C.) It is an ever-present omen of impending tragedy.
- (D.) It is a place for the characters to relax.

4. What does the term "interplay" refer to in the context of the passage?

- (A.) A lack of interaction between characters and setting.
- (B.) A complex relationship where the setting influences the narrative.
- (C.) An insignificant connection between characters and setting.
- (D.) A complete separation of characters and setting.

- (B.) Setting in literature is unimportant.
- (C.) In literature, settings can be as influential as characters in shaping the narrative.
- (D.) Settings have no role in character development.

Directions: Study the following information carefully and answer the questions given beside.

The crisis of justice that is the subject matter of discussion in the media today is in fact the crisis of "justice for the middle class". The main difference between India and the OECD (Organisation for Economic Cooperation and Development) countries is that whereas the middle class in these countries has reasonable access to justice, in India it does not. A vocal and powerful middle class has emerged in India since 1991. It is demanding reasonable access to justice. Much of the judicial reform effort will help meet this demand.

The question of justice for the poor is, however, an altogether different challenge. No country in the world has been able to secure justice for the poor. Most of the jails of the richest countries are filled with the poorest. The "masses" are more often victims of the criminal justice system than of crime. In India as well, jails are almost exclusively filled with the poor. The civil justice system is hardly accessible to them. They are often victimised by lawyers, touts and court staff. They are docket-excluded, a new type of untouchability. The language and the logic—and the colonial and feudal culture—of the judicial system are alien to them. It rarely takes cognisance of their needs and interests.

Their main concern, therefore, is to escape the attention of the justice system, criminal and civil. A landless Dalit person in the interior of Madhya Pradesh once gave me an insightful definition of a court from the perspective of the masses: "A court is a place where you are forcibly taken by the police to be punished; no one goes to a court." In contrast, many lawyers and judges colloquially define a court as "a temple of justice where rights are protected". These sharply divergent visions mean that justice for one section is often injustice for another. Protecting the livelihood of traditional taxi and auto drivers from predatory pricing by corporate app-based taxi providers by imaginatively using the available tools of law to delay their incursion would be seen by the rich and by sections of the middle class as a failure of the judicial system, and possibly as also resulting in a downgrading of the "ease of doing business" measure. However, the masses would see such a judicial intervention as strong evidence of a good justice system. Although the conflict over competing visions of the nation and conflicting demands from social and economic segments have confined judicial reform of judicial administration mainly to "neutral" areas such as process reform, procedural law, technology, planning and court and case management, judge strength, and the workload of judges, there has been considerable improvement in these areas, and the judicial system has improved its performance.

7. What is the central thesis of the above extract?

- (A.) The practice of untouchability takes various forms in modern India.
- (B.) The imagination of justice for the rich and poor is vastly different.
- (C.) Addressing judge strength and case-load management does not affect the performance of the judicial system.
- (D.) Protecting the livelihood of traditional taxi drivers is contrary to the goals of ease of doing business.

8. What does the author mean by 'docket-excluded' in the second paragraph?

- (A.) The poor do not have easy access to the justice system.
- (B.) Courts do not list bail petitions of poor undertrial prisoners who populate the country's jails.
- (C.) The poor reject the judicial system as being alien to their language and logic.
- (D.) The rich are excluded from the country's prisons, which are mostly populated by the poor.

9. Which of the following words best describes the experience of different segments of people with the justice system as described in the third paragraph?

- (A.) Symbiotic
- (B.) Affective
- (C.) Conflicting
- (D.) Inter-dependent

10. Which of the following statements is the author most likely to agree with?

- (A.) The judicial system reflects the same power relationships as those that exist in society.
- (B.) Access to the judicial system is determined more by a person's economic status such as wealth and income, than by their social status, such as religion and caste.
- (C.) The judicial system was made by the rich, for the rich, of the rich.
- (D.) None of the above.

11. Which of the following statements is the author most likely to disagree with?

- (A.) A truly representative democracy would ensure that the interests of the poor are also represented in the judicial system.
- (B.) The Law ensures equality both in text and in practise.
- (C.) The poor suffer most at the hands of lawyers and touts, compared to judges who might still pronounce judgments in their favour from time to time.
- (D.) All of the above.

12. What makes reform of judicial administration a 'neutral' area?

- (A.) Persons across socio-economic strata agree on the need to reform judicial administration.
- (B.) There is consensus among political parties across the ideological and regional spectrum on reforms to judicial administration.
- (C.) Reforms to judicial administration do not favour one class of people over another.
- (D.) Reform of judicial administration is mandated by the Constitution, and thus lies beyond political considerations.

Everything she wanted was here, at Carignano, in Kasauli. Here, on the ridge of the mountain, in this quiet house. It was the place, and the time of life, that she had wanted and prepared for all her life-as she realized on the first day at Carignano, with a great, cool flowering of relief - and at last she had it. She wanted no one and nothing else. Whatever else came, or happened here, would be an unwelcome intrusion and distraction. This she tried to convey to the plodding postman with a cold and piercing stare from the height of the ridge onto his honest bull back. Unfortunately, he did not look up at her on the hilltop but stared stolidly down at the dust piling onto his shoes as he plodded on. A bullock-man, an oafish ox, she thought bitterly. She stepped backwards into the garden and the wind suddenly billowed up and threw the pine branches about as though to curtain her. She was grey, tall and thin and her silk sari made a sweeping, shivering sound and she fancied she could merge with the pine trees and be mistaken for one. To be a tree, no more and no less, was all she was prepared to undertake.

What pleased and satisfied her so, here at Carignano, was its barrenness. This was the chief virtue of all Kasauli of course-its starkness. It had rocks, it had pines, it had light and air. In every direction there was a sweeping view - to the north, of the mountains, to the south, of the plains. Occasionally an eagle swam through this clear unobstructed mass of light and air, that was all. And Carignano, her home on the ridge, had no more than that. Why should it? The sun shone on its white walls. Its windows were open the ones facing north opened on to the blue waves of the Himalayas flowing out and up to the line of ice and snow sketched upon the sky, while those that faced south looked down the plunging cliff to the plain stretching out, flat and sere to the blurred horizon.

Yes, there were some apricot trees close to the house. There were clumps of iris that had finished blooming. There was the kitchen with a wing of smoke lifting out of its chimney and a stack of wood outside its door. But these were incidental, almost unimportant.

English literature is a vast and diverse field that has left an indelible mark on the world of letters. From the eloquent plays of William Shakespeare to the complex novels of Jane Austen and the profound poetry of William Wordsworth, English literature offers a window into the human experience. One of the luminaries of English literature is William Shakespeare, often hailed as the greatest playwright in the history of English language. His works, including Hamlet, Macbeth, and Romeo and Juliet, are celebrated for their exploration of human nature, love, ambition, and tragedy. His characters, such as the tormented Hamlet and the star-crossed lovers Romeo and Juliet, continue to captivate readers and audiences worldwide.

The 19th century ushered in a new era of literary giants. Jane Austen's novels, such as Pride and Prejudice and Sense and Sensibility, provide incisive social commentary through the lens of wit and romance. Austen's heroines, like Elizabeth Bennet and Elinor Dashwood, remain beloved literary figures known for their intelligence and resilience. The Romantic era brought forth poets like William Wordsworth and Samuel Taylor Coleridge, who celebrated the beauty of nature and the emotional intensity of the individual. Wordsworth's "I Wandered Lonely as a Cloud" and Coleridge's "The Rime of the Ancient Mariner" are testament to the power of the written words to evoke profound emotions and imagery. Moving towards 20th century, English literature continued to evolve. Virginia Woolf's ground-breaking novel Mrs. Dalloway explored the inner thoughts and lives of its characters with a modernist narrative style. Dystopian visions, as seen in George Orwell's Nineteen Eighty-Four provided stark warnings about the dangers of totalitarianism and the erosion of individual freedom. Today, English literature is a global phenomenon,

On the evening of the 10th, General Dyer arrived at Amritsar, and the Deputy-Commissioner handed over the civil power to him. He issued a proclamation by word of mouth that no meetings should be held. Two days later, after there had been no sort of riot, nor murder, General Dyer heard that a meeting was to be held at the Jallianwala Bagh. He proceeded there with about fifty troops, half British, half Indian, and a certain number of Ghurkas, armed with their kukris. The Jallianwala Bagh is an open space, half a mile square, which has one entry wide enough for three persons. The troops got in and lined up on a mound of debris. The walls, seven feet high, and the surrounding houses enclosed the people. There were, too, three alleys through which the people might have been able to pass. Within thirty seconds of the troops getting in, General Dyer gave orders to fire, and the crowd of people, estimated at anything from 5,000 to 20,000, who were sitting on the ground peacefully listening to the mob oratory, were fired on. The result of the troops' fire into the mass of people we do not know. But we do know that Dyer's own estimate of the casualties resulting from ten minutes continual individual firing, was 400 to 500 killed and 1,500 wounded. The people were not able to escape. They were people who had not offered any violence and who had not been warned. These people were shot down. After ten minutes, the ammunition was exhausted and the troops marched off, and they left 1,500 wounded there. There were men lying there for two days, dying of thirst, eating the ground, bleeding to death and nobody to look after them. Those who lived nearby came and carried away some of the wounded from the heap of dead and dying, but the unfortunate country people died there miserably of their wounds. This is what is done in 1919 in British India.

Centuries hence you will find Indian children brought up to this spot, just as they visit now the Cawnpore Well, and you can imagine the feelings of these Indians for generations over this terrible business.

[Col. Wedgwood, MP, speaking in the British Parliament, 22 December 1919]

25. Which incident is described in the passage?

- (A.) Baisakhi festival at Amritsar, April 1919
- (B.) Jallianwala Bagh Massacre, April 1919
- (C.) Congress Protests of April 1919
- (D.) Non-Cooperation Movement, April 1919

26. Why did the General Dyer order to fire on the crowd?

- (A.) To bring the crowd under control
- (B.) To scatter the crowd
- (C.) To teach the crowd a lesson
- (D.) To enforce the martial law

27. In the light of above passage, what was the intention of the speaker?

- (A.) To praise General Dyer
- (B.) To expose the deeds of General Dyer
- (C.) To get sympathy for the Indians who died

On 7th October 2023, an armed conflict broke out between Israel and Hamas-led Palestinian militants from the Gaza Strip[o] after the latter launched a multi-pronged invasion of southern Israel. After clearing Hamas militants, the Israeli military retaliated by conducting an extensive aerial bombardment campaign on Gazan targets and followed up with a large- scale ground invasion of Gaza. More than 1 ,400 Israelis, mostly civilians, and more than 10,000 Palestinians have been killed in the fighting. Over 240 Israelis and foreign nationals were taken hostage and brought into the Gaza Strip.

The Hamas-led attack began in the morning of 7th October, as Palestinian militants in Gaza launched a barrage of over 5,000 rockets against Israeli cities and kibbutzim while some 3,000 Palestinian militants breached the Gaza-Israel barrier. Over 1,000 Israeli civilians were killed in more than a dozen massacres, including the Re'im music festival massacre, and military bases were attacked. Over 200 civilians and Israeli soldiers were captured or abducted and taken to the Gaza Strip. At least 44 countries, mostly from the Western world, characterized the massacres of civilians as terrorism. Hamas declared that the invasion was carried out in response to the "desecration of the Al-Aqsa Mosque" , the Gaza Strip blockade, the construction of Israeli settlements, and Israeli settler violence against Palestinians in the West Bank.

Israel declared a state of war on 8th October, and its response to the attack has seen the most significant military escalation in the region since the Yom Kippur War. The current hostilities constitute the fifth war of the Gaza—Israel conflict, which is part of the broader Israeli— Palestinian conflict. In 2023, before the offensive started, an uptick in Israeli—Palestinian violence saw at least 247 Palestinians, 32 Israelis, and two foreigners killed. According to the Gaza Health Ministry, as of 6 November, over 10,000 Palestinians had been killed, including 79 UNRWA staff. Israel dropped a total of 6,000 bombs during the first six days of the conflict—nearly double the number of bombs dropped by the American-led CJTF—OIR in one month during the War against the Islamic State. There has been widespread killing of civilians, and human rights groups and a panel of United Nations special rapporteurs have accused both Israel and Hamas of war crimes.

Today, India has become the fourth country in the world to touch the surface of the moon. This success becomes even greater when we look at the place from where India had started its journey. There was a time when India did not have the required technology and there was no support either. We used to be among the 'Third World' countries, standing in the third row. Today, India has become the fifth largest economy in the world. Today, from trade to technology, India is among the countries standing in the first row. In this journey from third row to first row, institutions like ISRO have played a major role. Today, you have taken 'Make in India' to the moon.

I have seen the photo in which our moon lander has firmly set its foot on the moon like Angad. On one hand is the confidence of Vikram while on the other hand is the bravery of Pragyan. Our Pragyan is continuously leaving its footprints on the moon. The pictures taken from different cameras, which have just been released, and I have had the privilege of seeing, are indeed amazing. For the first time, since the beginning of human civilization, for the first time in the history of lakhs of years on the earth, man is looking at the pictures of that place with his own eyes. India has done the work of showing these pictures to the world! All the scientists like you have done it. Today, the whole world is acknowledging the significance of India's scientific spirit, our technology and our scientific temperament. India's presidency of the summit holds significance as it aims to become a voice for the 'less developed' global South in a world dominated by developed nations of the West. It is also likely to take up the issue of border tension with China. India, for its part, may attempt to straighten out its diplomatic intricacies with the West after it faced challenges due to the Russia-Ukraine conflict.

On 26th January 1950, we are going to enter into a life of contradictions. In politics, we will have equality and in social and economic structure, continue to deny the principle of one man one value. How long shall we continue to live this life of contradictions? How long shall we continue to deny equality in our social and economic life? If we continue to deny it for long, we will do so only by putting our political democracy in peril. We must remove this contradiction at the earliest possible moment else those who suffer from inequality will blow up the structure of democracy, which this Constituent Assembly has so laboriously built up.

I feel that the Constitution is workable, it is flexible and it is strong enough to hold the country together both in peacetime and in wartime. Indeed, if I may say so, if things go wrong under the new Constitution, the reason will not be that we had a bad Constitution. What we will have to say is that man was vile?

The third thing we must do is not be content with mere political democracy. We must note that our political democracy cannot last unless there lies at the base of social democracy. What does social democracy mean? It means a way of life, which recognizes liberty, equality and fraternity as the principles of life.

however, good a Constitution may be, it is sure to turn out bad because those who are called to work it, happen to be a bad lot. However, bad a Constitution may be, it may turn out to be good if those who are called to work it, happen to be a good lot. The working of a Constitution does not depend wholly upon the nature of the Constitution.

(Excerpts from Dr. Ambedkar's address to the Constituent Assembly, 25 November 1949)

47. What is the life of contradiction referred to here?

- (A.) That of equality in politics but inequality in social and economic structure
- (B.) That of inequality in politics but equality in social and economic structure
- (C.) That of inequality in social structure but equality in economic structure
- (D.) That of equality in politics and economic structure but inequality in social structure

48. What will happen, according to Dr. Ambedkar, if we continue to deny equality in our social and economic life?

- (A.) There will be no injustice
- (B.) Our political democracy will be in danger
- (C.) Equality in social and economic life will be achieved nevertheless
- (D.) Our social and economic life will be in peril

49. What might be the cause, according to Dr. Ambedkar, if things go wrong under the new Constitution?

- (A.) That the Constitution was ignored
- (B.) That the men called upon to work the Constitution were good
- (C.) That the men called upon to work the Constitution were not good
- (D.) That the Constitution was bad and failed the people

The Indian legal system places a significant emphasis on protecting the rights and welfare of children. The Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, 2015, is a vital piece of legislation in this regard. It is designed to ensure that children in conflict with the law receive special care, protection, and treatment, with the ultimate goal of their rehabilitation and reintegration into society.

One of the key provisions of the Act is the establishment of Juvenile Justice Boards (JJBs) at the district level. These boards consist of a Metropolitan Magistrate or Judicial Magistrate of the first class and two social workers, at least one of whom should be a woman. The primary function of the JJB is to determine the age of the juvenile, the circumstances in which the offense was committed, and whether the juvenile should be sent to a special home or released on probation.

The Act makes a clear distinction between a "child in conflict with the law" and a "child in need of care and protection." A child in conflict with the law is one who has committed an offense, while a child in need of care and protection is a child who is vulnerable or at risk and requires special care and support.

The Act introduces a unique approach to dealing with children who are in conflict with the law. For children between the ages of 16 and 18, who have committed heinous offenses, they can be tried as adults, subject to a preliminary assessment by the Juvenile Justice Board. This assessment considers the child's mental and physical capacity to commit such an offense. If the board determines that the child should be tried as an adult, the case is transferred to the regular criminal courts.

The Act also places restrictions on the publication of information that could lead to the identification of a juvenile offender. This is done to protect the privacy and future prospects of the child.

55. What is the role of the Juvenile Justice Board (JJB)?

- (A.) To determine the punishment for juvenile offenders.
- (B.) To decide whether a child should be sent to a regular prison.
- (C.) To assess the age and circumstances of the juvenile, and make decisions on rehabilitation.
- (D.) To prosecute child offenders.

56. What is the distinction between a "child in conflict with the law" and a "child in need of care and protection" ?

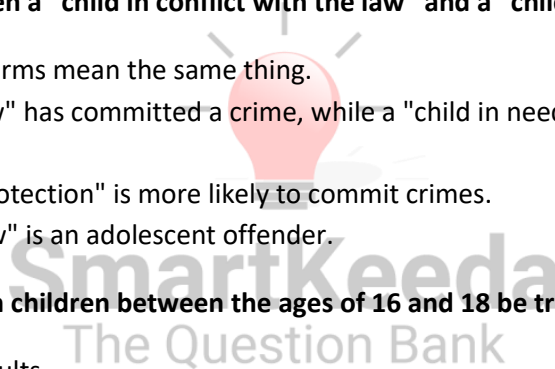

- (A.) There is no distinction; both terms mean the same thing.
- (B.) A "child in conflict with the law" has committed a crime, while a "child in need of care and protection" is vulnerable or at risk.
- (C.) A "child in need of care and protection" is more likely to commit crimes.
- (D.) A "child in conflict with the law" is an adolescent offender.

57. Under what circumstances can children between the ages of 16 and 18 be tried as adults?

- (A.) They can always be tried as adults.
- (B.) After a preliminary assessment by the Juvenile Justice Board.
- (C.) When they have committed any offense, regardless of the severity.
- (D.) When they reach the age of 18.

58. What is the purpose of placing restrictions on the publication of information related to juvenile offenders?

- (A.) To increase the age of criminal responsibility.
- (B.) To protect the privacy and future prospects of the child.
- (C.) To encourage public shaming of juvenile offenders.
- (D.) To help law enforcement track juvenile offenders.

In India, the legal landscape surrounding online defamation is a subject of significant interest and debate. With the rise of social media, and online platforms, cases of online defamation have become increasingly common. Defamation refers to making false statements about someone that harm their reputation. Online defamation includes defamatory statements made on the internet, including social media, blogs, forums, and other online platforms.

One critical aspect of online defamation is determining the liability of intermediaries, such as social media platforms or websites, for defamatory content posted by users. Section 79 of the Information Technology Act, 2000, provides a safe harbor for intermediaries, stating that they are not liable for third-party content if they act as intermediaries and follow due diligence in removing or disabling access to the content once notified.

However, determining whether an intermediary has fulfilled its due diligence obligations can be complex. The Indian judiciary has been actively interpreting this provision. One significant case is the Shreya Singhal v. Union of India, in which the Supreme Court clarified that intermediaries are required to act upon a valid court order or government directive for content removal, not upon private complaints.

The court also emphasized that the intermediaries should not take a proactive role in monitoring content, as this could potentially infringe on free speech. While the law provides a safe harbor, it does not absolve intermediaries from their responsibilities.

Online defamation cases often involve a balancing act between the right to freedom of expression and the right to reputation. The Indian legal system requires a careful examination of the content, context, and intent of the statements to determine whether they qualify as defamatory. Additionally, the plaintiff in an online defamation case must prove that the statement was false, damaging to their reputation, and made with a degree of fault, such as negligence or actual malice.

59. What is the primary focus of the passage?

- (A.) The rise of social media in India.
- (B.) The legal aspects of online defamation in India.
- (C.) The role of intermediaries in online content.
- (D.) The importance of free speech on the internet.

60. What is online defamation, as described in the passage?

- (A.) Making harmful statements about someone in person.
- (B.) False statements made on the internet that harm someone's reputation.
- (C.) Online harassment.
- (D.) A form of political activism.

61. What is the significance of Section 79 of the Information Technology Act, 2000, as mentioned in the passage?

- (A.) It defines defamation laws in India.
- (B.) It provides safe harbor for intermediaries in cases of online defamation.
- (C.) It regulates the content on social media platforms.
- (D.) It allows private complaints against online defamation.

62. According to the Supreme Court in the Shreya Singhal v. Union of India case, under what circumstances should intermediaries act in response to content removal?

- (A.) Upon receiving a private complaint.
- (B.) Upon a valid court order or government directive.
- (C.) Proactively to monitor content.
- (D.) Only if the content is found to be defamatory.

63. How does the Indian legal system balance the Right to Freedom of Expression and the Right to Reputation in online defamation cases?

- (A.) By favoring freedom of expression over reputation.
- (B.) By favoring reputation over freedom of expression.
- (C.) By carefully examining the content, context, and intent of statements.
- (D.) By absolving intermediaries of their responsibilities.

64. In an online defamation case, what must the plaintiff prove about the defamatory statement?

- (A.) That it was political activism.
- (B.) That it was made with good intentions.
- (C.) That it was true and intended to inform the public.
- (D.) That it was false, damaging to their reputation, and made with a degree of fault.

65. What is the role of intermediaries in the context of online defamation cases?

- (A.) To actively monitor and censor content.
- (B.) To act upon private complaints for content removal.
- (C.) To completely absolve themselves of liability.
- (D.) To encourage online defamation.

The Editors Guild of India has expressed concern over the "draconian provisions" of the Press and Registration of Periodicals (PRP) Bill, 2023, that can have an adverse impact on freedom of the press.

The Guild added: "Editors Guild of India would like the proposed bill to ensure that publishing of news in India remains free of encumbrances and intrusive checks on publishers by the Registrar, and that the primary emphasis of the Registrar and the PRP remains 'registration' and not 'regulation', as the latter has the potential of restricting freedom of the press." "In the definitions section, the term 'specified authority' gives power to government agencies beyond the Press Registrar, to conduct the functions of the Registrar, which could even include police and other law enforcement agencies. Given the intrusive, expansive, and vague nature of powers that the bill in any case allows to the Press Registrar, the power to further delegate this power to other government agencies including law enforcement agencies is deeply distressing," the Guild said.

The statement says sections) and 1 1 (4) allow the Registrar to deny the right to bring out a periodical and cancel the certificate of registration of a periodical to persons convicted of 'terrorist act or unlawful activity' or 'for having done anything against the security of the State'. "Interestingly, the PRB Act, 1867, had no such provisions. Given the liberal and arbitrary use of UAPA (which is the basis for defining 'terrorist act' and 'unlawful activity'), as well as other criminal laws, including sedition, against journalists and media organisations to suppress freedom of speech, the Guild is deeply concerned by the introduction of these new provisions, and the way they can be misused to deny the right to bring out news publications to persons who are critical of governments," it said.

Among the other worrisome provisions listed by the Guild is Section 6(b), which gives power to the Press Registrar (as well as any other "specified authority") to enter the premises of a periodical to "inspect or take copies of the relevant records or documents or ask any questions necessary for obtaining any information required to be furnished"

66. The PRP Bill defines "newspaper" to mean a periodical of loose-folded sheets usually printed on newsprint and brought out daily or at least once in a week, containing information on current events, public news or comments on public news. Who among the following is covered by the definition of newspaper?

- (A.) Mr. X publishing news content on digital media.
- (B.) Mr. Y publishing books containing the comments of the public on public news.
- (C.) Mr. Z publishing news content in print media on weekly basis.
- (D.) All of the above.

67. Who among the following is not eligible to publish a periodical as per the PRP Bill?

- (A.) Mr. A convicted of waging war against Government of India.
- (B.) Mr. B, accused of unlawful activities under the Unlawful Activities Prevention Act.
- (C.) Mr. C, accused of terrorist activities under the Unlawful Activities Prevention Act.
- (D.) All of the above.

68. Which of the following is a threat to the freedom of press in India?

- (A.) Liberal use of Unlawful Activities Prevention Act against Journalists refrains journalists from tracing, tracking and publishing investigative articles because they apprehend that they might be linked with criminals.
- (B.) Use of Sedition laws against journalists under the guise that through their articles they are promoting hatred and exciting disaffection against the government.
- (C.) Levy of GST on newspapers.
- (D.) Both (A) and (B).

69. The PRP Bill defines "specified authority" to mean a District Magistrate or Collector or such other officer as the State Government or, as the case may be, Union territory Administration may, by notification, specify. The PRP Bill is criticised by Editors Guild of India because:

- (A.) The definition of specified authority is too wide and can include even officers below the level of Collector. The PRP Bill enables the specified authority to perform the functions of Press Registrar General.
- (B.) The PRP Bill confers various powers on the Press Registrar General including the power to register, deny registration, cancel the registration, etc.
- (C.) The PRP Bill enables the specified authority to enter the premises of a periodical for inspection
- (D.) All of the above.

70. Freedom of press is not specifically guaranteed under the Constitution of India but is implied in Article 19(1) (a) i.e. Freedom of Speech and Expression. Therefore, freedom of press is pan of fundamental rights.

- (A.) Freedom of press being a fundamental right, no law can be made for registration and denial of registration of newspapers.
- (B.) Fundamental rights are not absolute rights and reasonable restrictions can be imposed on the exercise of fundamental rights and therefore, laws such as PRP Bill can be enacted.
- (C.) Freedom of press being a fundamental right, journalists and press is exempt from the operation of general criminal law of the country.
- (D.) None of the above.

71. PRP Bill denies the right to publish periodicals to a person who has been found to have committed a terrorist act and has been convicted by a competent Court in India. Which of the following is most appropriate reason?

- (A.) The right to publish a periodical is denied because criminals do not possess any fundamental rights.
- (B.) The right to publish a periodical is denied because such a person is a threat to the society and nation.
- (C.) The right to publish a periodical is denied because they may not be neutral in reporting and may incite violence and spread disaffection against the state being themselves involved in terrorist acts.
- (D.) All of the above.

There are some advantages of the Digital Personal Data Protection Act (DPDPA), 2023. For instance, for the first time, personal data belonging to or identifying children will have to be classified separately, with such data carrying a greater degree of security and privacy. The law also seeks to reduce the rate and impact of data breaches targeting Indian businesses. The Digital Personal Data Protection law, however, goes a step beyond by imposing penalties for cases where data is breached as a result of a lack of implementation of adequate security controls. However, it could be said that the law isn't balanced, because it provides wide exemptions to the processing of personal data to the government. For instance, data can be processed "in the interest of prevention, detection, investigation or prosecution of any offence ... in India." These kinds of exemptions are dangerous as they stand to legitimise widespread and unwarranted collection of data under the guise that such collection and processing may ultimately be useful for preventing or deterring a crime.

Security agencies will have significant authority to collect and retain any data whatsoever, as is typically the case with exemptions relating to the maintenance of sovereignty, integrity, security of the state, preservation of public order, prevention of offences, and incitement to commit offences. The law also exempts processing of personal data held outside of India. The government is also exempt from being required to delete any data that it possesses, regardless of the purpose it may have been collected for, on the request of an individual, or by way of a prescribed data retention period.

The government is not bound by purpose limitations, allowing data collected for one specified purpose be used for a new, incompatible purpose, which stands in contrast to the regulations imposed on businesses.

The Supreme Court on September 1 held that a child born of a void or voidable marriage can inherit the parent's share in a joint Hindu family property. A three-judge Bench headed by Chief Justice of India D.Y. Chandrachud however clarified that such a child would not be entitled to rights in or to the property of any other person in the family. A voidable marriage is one that is made invalid by the husband or wife through a decree. A void marriage is invalid at its very inception.

Chief Justice Chandrachud said the first step to the inheritance of a child from a void or voidable marriage would be to ascertain the exact share of his parent in the ancestral property. This could be done by means of conducting a "notional partition" of the ancestral property and calculating how much of the property the parent would have got immediately before his death. Once the share of the deceased parent in the property is ascertained through such a notional partition, his heirs, including his children by means of void or voidable marriage, would be entitled to their portions in the share.

The Chief Justice said that Section 16 of the Hindu Marriage Act has statutorily conferred legitimacy to children born out of void or voidable marriages. In fact, Chief Justice Chandrachud pointed out that Section 16(3) stipulates that children from void and voidable marriages would have a right to their parents' property. The court said the intent of granting legitimacy to such children in the Hindu Marriage Act should also be reflected in the Hindu Succession Act, which governs inheritance. Children from void or voidable marriages come within the ambit of "legitimate kinship" and cannot be regarded as illegitimate by the Hindu Succession Act when it comes to inheritance.

The case before the three-judge Bench was focused on an amended provision in the Hindu Marriage Act, Section 16(3). The case was referred to a larger Bench in 2011 after a Division Bench of the apex court refused to follow past precedents and championed the cause of children born out of illegitimate marriages.

"With changing social norms of legitimacy in every society, including ours, what was illegitimate in the past may be legitimate today. The concept of legitimacy stems from social consensus, in the shaping of which various social groups play a vital role," Justice Ganguly, who authored the 2011 judgment, had observed.

During the hearings on the reference, Chief Justice Chandrachud had agreed with the Division Bench's findings that children from void and voidable marriages had rights over the property, whether self-acquired or ancestral, of their parents.

[Extracted with edits and revisions from "Children from void, voidable marriages entitled to parents' share in ancestral property: Supreme Court", by Krishnadas Rajagopal, The Hindu, <https://www.thehindu.com/news/national/children-from-void-voidable-marriages-are-legitimate-can-claim-rights-in-parents-properties-sc/article67259229.ece>]

78. Ashima and Ashok got married to each other in a traditional Hindu ceremony in Kolkata, after which they both moved to the USA, where Ashok had a job. In the USA, they had a child, whom they named Gogol. Many years later, Ashima found that Ashok was already married to Sushma before their wedding in Kolkata. Ashok and Sushma also had a child from their marriage, Arpita, who was older than Gogol by 4 years. Ashok explained to Ashima that although he had no intention of cheating on her, he had to keep his marriage to Sushma a secret since his parents would have never agreed as Sushma belonged to a different caste. Ashima is shocked to learn that her marriage to Ashok is void as per Hindu marriage laws since Ashok was already married before their wedding. She is trying to explore possibilities so that Gogol doesn't lose his inheritance from his father's side of the family. Based on your reading of the passage, what do you think is the correct position with respect to Gogol's inheritance rights?

- (A.) Gogol could claim the entirety of Ashok's share of the ancestral property.
- (B.) Gogol would inherit the entire ancestral property as the only son of Ashok.
- (C.) Gogol would inherit his share from within Ashok's share of the full ancestral property without prejudice to the inheritance of other legal heirs, including Arpita.
- (D.) Only Sushma and Arpita are the rightful legal heirs of Ashok.

79. In the above fact scenario, consider a property that was purchased by Ashok from his own earnings in the USA, thereby not making it part of ancestral property but instead falling in the category of self-acquired property. Upon Ashok's death, who would have inheritance rights over the said property?

- (A.) Sushma and Ashima.
- (B.) Sushma, Ashima, Arpita, and Gogol, as they are all his rightful legal heirs.
- (C.) Sushma, Arpita, and Gogol.
- (D.) Sushma and Arpita.

80. Based on your reading of the passage, how did the Hindu Marriage Act influence the outcome of the case on inheritance? Select one option from below:

- (A.) The amended provisions of the Hindu Marriage Act grant legitimacy to children from voidable marriages and therefore this logic should be extended to children born of voidable and void marriages under the Hindu Succession Act.
- (B.) The amended provisions of the Hindu Marriage Act give legitimacy to the second marriage and therefore this should also have an impact on the Hindu Succession Act.
- (C.) The amended provisions of the Hindu Marriage Act grant legitimate status to children from void or voidable marriages and therefore this should also extend to the Hindu Succession Act.
- (D.) The Hindu Marriage Act has no bearing on the case in question.

81. 12-year-old Kausalya was married off to 23-year-old Dashrath in her maternal home in Uttar Pradesh. She completed her education after her marriage and went on to get a job as a teacher at a government school. Dashrath's family, however, was opposed to her taking up a job outside the house and insisted that she should stay at home and look after her 2 sons, Ram and Lakshman. Kausalya, however, was very excited about starting her new job and sought advice from her younger sister, Vershini, who was training to be a lawyer. Vershini advises her that since she was married before she turned 18, her marriage was voidable and she could get it annulled.

Kausalya, who was not very happy in her marriage, considers this option but is worried that her sons may lose their inheritance. Select the option that denotes correctly the status of Ram and Lakshman to inherit their father's ancestral property.

- (A.) Kausalya's children cannot inherit Dashrath's ancestral property but can inherit his self-acquired property
- (B.) Both Ram and Lakshman can inherit their father's share of the ancestral property irrespective of the voidable status of their parent's marriage.
- (C.) If Kausalya decides to annul her voidable marriage, she and her sons would lose all rights of inheriting ancestral property from Dashrath.
- (D.) Ram and Lakshman can only inherit ancestral property from their mother's side since she decided to annul the voidable marriage.

82. Ajay is married to 2 women, Diya and Riya, and both don't know of each other. He was married to Diya first, when they were both around 23 years of age and studying together in college. They have no children. He later got married to Riya in a temple, and she had no idea about his first marriage with Diya. Ajay and Riya have 2 children, Raj and Rani. One day, Riya found out about Diya from one of Ajay's college friends. She wants to divorce Ajay but finds out that her marriage to him is void since he was already married at that time. At a loss, she goes to a lawyer to find out about the rights of her children to inherit property. Which is the most legally sound advice that the lawyer could give to her?

- (A.) He would say that her children can still inherit property from Ajay thanks to the Supreme Court judgment.
- (B.) He would advise her to get her marriage registered so that they can inherit proper-V.
- (C.) He would advise her to ignore her marriage with Ajay since it is anyway a void marriage.
- (D.) He would advise her to speak to Diya and sort it out with her so that her children can inherit property since she would have the final say.

83. In the above scenario, Riya wants to know if there is any way in which the judgment can come to her aid while inheriting property owned by Ajay. What would the correct position of law?

- (A.) No, she cannot inherit property as the judgment merely talks about the rights of children from void marriages.
- (B.) Yes, she should fight for her rights to inherit property.
- (C.) Yes, Ajay would have to give her property since he cheated on her.
- (D.) She would get an equal share of property as Diya, since they are both his wives who got married to him without knowing about each other.

84. Srimati's first marriage was void due to being within the prohibited degree of relationship. Dhanalakshmi, who is the daughter of Srimati from her first marriage confronts her mother once she finds her identity, demanding her share in her mother's ancestral property. Srimati, however, subsequently married Dhruvad and has 2 daughters with him- Ira and Shira and is not interested in giving any property to Dhanalakshmi. Dhanalakshmi decides to assert her right in a court of law. How would Dhanalakshmi's share be determined?

- (A.) Dhanalakshmi would not have any right in her mother's share of the property since the right of inheritance pertains only to father's share of property.
- (B.) Dhanalakshmi could demand a notional partition and get a share from Srimati's portion of her ancestral property
- (C.) Being a child from a void marriage, Dhanalakshmi has no rights of inheritance.
- (D.) It is Srimati's decision as to whom she gives rights in her property.

Words remain an enigma, their presence within human sphere is a unique mystery. They form the intricate tapestry that convinces us of our existence, blurring lines between fact and fiction. An engagement with words is the most captivating, enchanting, and sometimes daunting encounter with the world. A word, a symbolic entity formed from the ethereal, exists neither as animate nor inanimate, yet pulsates with life. It can emanate warmth or coldness, absorb emotions, or stand as dry as a rock. Words can provoke smiles and elicit joy. They are like glow-worms, momentarily dispelling the surrounding darkness and act as life-saving rafts amid the tumultuous ocean waves. Words grant us the ability to explore the universe, and "to see a world in a grain of sand." as William Blake noted. They impart a semantic existence to the lifeless, and bestow aesthetic form upon the formless. Scriptures say the word is the world. I say the world within the word is the abode of faith.

85. What is the central theme of the passage?

- (A.) The history of the human language
- (B.) The impact of words on human existence
- (C.) The importance of storytelling
- (D.) The mystery of human cognition

86. According to the passage, what does a 'word' symbolize?

- (A.) An inanimate object
- (B.) A tangible entity
- (C.) An animate entity
- (D.) An intangible concept

87. How does the passage describe words' ability to affect emotions?

- (A.) Words can only evoke positive emotions.
- (B.) Words can absorb emotions and become emotion themselves.
- (C.) Words have no impact on emotions.
- (D.) Words can be devoid of emotions.

88. "An engagement with words is the most captivating, enchanting, and sometimes daunting encounter with the world." Which of the following conclusions can be drawn from the above statement?

- (A.) Words can be used to manipulate others.
- (B.) The power of words should be used carefully.
- (C.) Words can capture the atrocities of the world.
- (D.) Words can paint a picture of the world in all its different colours.

89. Which of the following strengthens the author's idea of words being "like glow-worms momentarily dispelling the surrounding darkness"?

- (A.) Words help in understanding reality.
- (B.) Words illuminate the mind of the reader.
- (C.) Words help in escaping reality.
- (D.) Words cast darkness in the mind of the reader.

90. In the context of the passage, what is the significance of the "world within the word"?

- (A.) It refers to the power of language to create inspiration, energy and faith.
- (B.) It signifies the author's love for the global community.
- (C.) It represents the mysteries hidden in language.
- (D.) It describes the author's mission to explore different cultures.

Students have been abuzz over how artificial intelligence tools can do their homework and programmers over how these can increase their productivity or take away their jobs. As much as digitization has transformed the country in recent years, there is a widespread feeling that at some point around the horizon, AI shall rejig everything in even more fundamental, fantastic, and frightening ways. This is why deciding how the coming changes should be regulated is very important. TRAI has made a strong case for an independent statutory authority to ensure the responsible development and use of AI in the country, a global agency along similar lines shall likely be pitched at the G20 leaders' summit, and interestingly even American MNC Microsoft has floated a blueprint for AI governance in India. The great size and diversity of its "data points" make India of great interest to all developers of AI technologies.

But India is only at their receiving end, nowhere close to the US and China's advances. Although lately, it is becoming obvious how much state censorship is encumbering China's Large Language Modeling, the country is still very much in the game with PhDs in fields related to AI, investments in AI chip hardware design, and domestic generative models like Wu Dao. The scientific accomplishments of India's Chandrayaan mission have seen it being wooed for various international space collaborations. This promises spinoff technological benefits across Indian industry and is also geo-strategically useful. Likewise, it is only with sufficient AI prowess that India shall really get to play at the high table of global rulemaking for AI.

Knowing how much Indians' future shall be shaped by generative AI needs matching efforts to create indigenous models. In this and at this stage, a proactive government role is key, rather than just waiting on some large corporation to do the needful. Missing this bus will after all be even more costly than missing the chip research one. Plus, GOI alone can push academia-industry collaborations with the necessary weight and urgency. This does not let other institutions off the hook. A US judge has rejected the copyright for an AI-generated artwork. Indian courts should start engaging with the broader issue of non-human agency rather than wait for precedence to be set elsewhere. Indian schools need to think beyond the ban-ChatGPT mindset. Let us lead instead of only being led.

[Extracted from "First, get the tech: Unless India develops domestic AI heft, it wouldn't play any meaningful part in global regulatory efforts", Times of India]

91. Which of the following is the author most likely to agree with?

- (A.) The best way to deal with the advancement of AI is to leave its regulation to market forces.
- (B.) Government-driven control of AI is inefficient and shall promote red-tapism.
- (C.) Private companies with their large capital and infrastructure design the most efficient AI governance models.
- (D.) Government-led initiatives of AI regulation and development lead to efficient outcomes.

92. Which of the following, if true, would most strengthen the main argument of the passage?

- (A.) Governments that lead the initiative on regulating and responding to the advancement of AI tools benefit the most from them.
- (B.) Governments that don't engage with generative AI and remain at its receiving end stay risk-averse with nothing to lose.
- (C.) Governments that actively incentivise MNCs to participate in AI governance make the most out of the advancements in the field.
- (D.) Governments that explore models of public-private partnership strike the right balance in regulating generative AI.

93. Based only on the author's statement that "Indian courts should start engaging with the broader issue of non-human agency rather than wait for precedence to be set elsewhere", which of the following would the author be most likely to agree with?

- (A.) Courts should take the initiative by being innovative and laying down rules where no precedents exist.
- (B.) Courts should wait for precedents and in the meantime refrain from engaging with the challenges presented by generative AI.
- (C.) Courts should stop relying on precedents and decide cases on the basis of judicial wisdom.
- (D.) Precedents are the best possible safeguard against arbitrary decision-making.

94. If the information in the passage above is correct, which of the following must necessarily be true?

- (A.) AI regulation is the responsibility of the legislature alone.
- (B.) AI regulation is the responsibility of courts and can't be addressed through standalone statutory rules.
- (C.) AI regulation is a collaborative effort involving all the institutions of the State.
- (D.) AI regulation is the domain of private industry.

95. Based on the authors arguments, which of the following would result in weakening, rather than strengthening India's position at the forefront of generative AI?

- (A.) Investing in indigenous AI chip hardware design and domestic generative models.
- (B.) Exploring spinoff technological benefits with other scientific advancements like the Chandrayaan mission.
- (C.) Introducing generative models like Wu Dao which have demonstrated success in other jurisdictions.
- (D.) Locally developing technologies such as indigenous AI models.

96. The author states that, "Missing this bus will after all be even more costly than missing the chip research one." For this statement to be true, with which of the following statements about chip research must the author most likely agree?

- (A.) India lead chip research from its frontiers.
- (B.) India was right to leave regulation of chip industry and research to MNCs.
- (C.) India should have proactively played a role in responding to new research in chip technology.
- (D.) The failure to respond to new developments in chip technology was a bigger loss than the potential failure to regulate generative AI.

Imagine you have just been appointed as a consultant for a manufacturing company that is experiencing a decline in its production efficiency. The company produces a wide range of products, and the management is concerned about the overall output. Your task is to identify the root causes of this decline and recommend solutions.

As you begin your investigation, you gather information and observe the following: The company recently introduced a new production system that is more automated but requires highly specialized operators.

The workforce has reported a lack of motivation and job satisfaction, which has led to increased absenteeism.

There have been several breakdowns in the new machinery, leading to production delays and quality issues.

The company's competitors have adopted similar automation technologies and are experiencing increased productivity.

Customer complaints about product quality have increased in recent months.

97. Based on the information provided, which of the following is a potential root cause of the decline in production efficiency?

- (A.) The introduction of a new production system
- (B.) Lack of motivation and job satisfaction among the workforce
- (C.) Increased absenteeism
- (D.) Breakdowns in machinery

98. What makes the introduction of the new production system a potential contributing factor to the decline in efficiency?

- (A.) The system is highly automated
- (B.) It requires specialized operators
- (C.) The machinery is prone to breakdowns
- (D.) Competitors have adopted similar technologies

99. What is a critical difference between the company's situation and that of its competitors?

- (A.) Both the company and its competitors have introduced new production systems.
- (B.) The competitors have experienced increased customer complaints.
- (C.) The company's workforce lacks motivation and job satisfaction.
- (D.) The company's machinery is prone to breakdowns.

100. How might the increased absenteeism affect production efficiency?

- (A.) It might lead to increased quality issues.
- (B.) It might result in longer machinery breakdowns.
- (C.) It could lead to delays in production.
- (D.) It has no impact on production efficiency.

101. What could be a possible solution to address the decline in production efficiency?

- (A.) Hire more specialized operators for the new system.
- (B.) Implement a motivation and job satisfaction program for the workforce.
- (C.) Upgrade the machinery to reduce breakdowns.
- (D.) Purchase new machinery to replace the automated system.

102. Based on the information provided, what is a potential consequence of increased customer complaints about product quality?

- (A.) It indicates that the company's competitors are also experiencing quality issues.
- (B.) It suggests that the company's products are meeting customer expectations.
- (C.) It may lead to a loss of customers and reputation damage.
- (D.) It shows that the company's automated system is performing well.

In a world where aspirations for upward mobility are fervent, the opportunities for achieving such dreams remain limited. When one generation falls short, the mantle of ambition passes to the next, embedding within it a heavy burden of responsibility. Failing to meet these expectations can lead to profound sorrow, and in the direst cases, even to suicide. It's in this landscape that coaching institutes assume a significant role, cultivating an atmosphere of uncertainty among students and parents. A stark discrepancy emerges between preparation for board examinations and competitive tests, amplifying the inequalities that plague the education system. The coaching industry's massive marketing campaigns further exacerbate the situation, with some strategies veering into ethical grey areas. The tests themselves, designed to be more challenging than standardised exams, set the stage for feelings of inadequacy and self-doubt when not conquered. Our educational system is tailored to gauge an individual's merit through examinations. Eminent thinker Michael J Sandel dubs this system the "tyranny of merit", a sentiment echoed by the Supreme Court of India. Upholding the OBC reservation judgment, the Court called for a deeper evaluation of the "idea of merit", highlighting its nuanced nature. Merit as a concept remains shrouded in misunderstanding and often goes unexamined within school curriculum. Adapting to new living arrangements, sourcing nourishing meals, battling isolation, and grappling with commutes form the backdrop against, which education unfolds. For marginalised communities and gender minorities, these hurdles are often amplified. Social media algorithms exacerbate mental health concerns, sowing loneliness and impeding attention spans and creativity. Technology emerges as a potential equaliser in this landscape. Online platforms now offer preparation opportunities from the comfort of one's home. Government-curated or market-driven content could usher in a new era of accessibility.

[Extracted, with edits and revisions from "Kota suicides: Coaching institutes manufacture insecurity — moving beyond the tyranny of merit might help" authored by Akash Kumar and published in The Indian Express dated September 2, 2023]

103. As per the author, which one of the following is not likely leading to suicide among the students?

- (A.) Incorrect marketing strategies by the coaching institutes.
- (B.) Burdening of ambitions by one generation to another.
- (C.) Creation of hostile environment by the coaching institutes.
- (D.) Living in a surrounding with different background and culture.

104. Which of the following is not true regarding the education system as per the opinion of the author?

- (A.) It is primarily based on the merit of the students.
- (B.) Merit of the students is not the determining factor.
- (C.) Examination plays a pivotal role in the education system.
- (D.) An individual's merit cannot be identified without examination.

105. Which of the following strengthens the argument regarding the 'idea of merit' as per the above-mentioned passage?

- (A.) True merit is multifaceted and extends beyond performance in a single competitive examination.
- (B.) Pervasive inequalities can only be identified with the help of a single competitive examination.
- (C.) True merit is not multifaceted and does not extend beyond performance in a single competitive examination.
- (D.) The school education ensures the proper implementation of the idea of merit.

106. Which of the following is correct regarding the inequalities mentioned by the author?

- (A.) There is no difference between the preparation of board and competitive examination.
- (B.) Education system accommodates the inequalities.
- (C.) Competitive examination leads to social equality.
- (D.) There are existing inequalities which are enlarged by the competitive examinations.

107. Which of the following statements reflects the use of online platforms for education as per the author?

- (A.) It provides equal opportunity to all the students irrespective of caste or creed.
- (B.) It encourages the students to prepare for examination.
- (C.) It should be the only means to education.
- (D.) It cannot be accessed by majority of the people due to technological impediments.

108. Which one of the following is not a challenge for quality education?

- (A.) Influence of social media.
- (B.) Mental health of the students and parents.
- (C.) Availability of online resources.
- (D.) Lack of competitive atmosphere among the peers.

Automobiles are the most preferred mode of transport because they allow us to cover large distance quickly. Resultantly, vehicles have been developed that run on diesel, petrol and even on electricity, which is a remarkable innovative development. During a survey about the percentage wise distribution of cars in four different states, the information regarding ratio between the diesel engine cars, petrol engine cars and electric cars was collected. Total number of cars for which data was collected was 8000. Of these, State 1 had 15% of the total cars in the ratio of 3:4:1 (diesel, petrol and electric); State 2 had 20% of the total cars in the ratio of 5:3:2 (diesel, petrol and electric); State 3 had 30% of the total cars in the ratio of 4:5:3 (diesel, petrol and electric), and; State 4 had 35% of the total cars in the ratio of 7:5:2 (diesel, petrol and electric).

109. If 45% of the electric cars in State 4 are air conditioned (AC) and remaining are non-AC, what is the number of non-AC cars?

- (A.) 380
- (B.) 240
- (C.) 220
- (D.) 180

110. Number of petrol cars in State 2 is how much percentage more than the number of diesel cars in State 1?

- (A.) 4.67%
- (B.) 9.23%
- (C.) 3.33%
- (D.) 6.67%

111. What is the ratio of diesel cars in State 4 to electric cars in State 3?

- (A.) 7:3
- (B.) 3:7
- (C.) 7:4
- (D.) 4:7

112. Compute the percentage of total electric cars to total cars in all the States.

- (A.) 19.37%
- (B.) 18.37%
- (C.) 18.73%
- (D.) 19.57%

113. What is the difference between number of petrol cars in State 3 and diesel cars in State 1?

- (A.) 350
- (B.) 400
- (C.) 500
- (D.) 550

114. What is the average number of diesel cars in all the States?

A survey was conducted about the population of a particular region having a working population of three lacs and information was collected about self-employed persons, casual wage workers, and regular salaries employees of both urban and rural areas of the region. Self-employment is a key source of income in both rural and urban areas but it is more prevalent in rural areas (56% of the rural working population) than in urban areas (40% of the urban working population). The rural working population was 48% of the total working population. Regular salaried workers in urban areas were 48% of the urban working population whereas in rural areas, regular salaried workers constituted 12% of the rural working population. During the survey, the number of casual wage workers was found to be more common in rural areas than in urban areas. Casual wage workers in rural areas were 32% of the rural working population whereas it was 12% of the urban working population in urban areas.

115: By what percentage the number of self-employed workers in rural areas is more than the number of self-employed workers in urban areas?

- (A.) 29.23
- (B.) 33.24
- (C.) 35.01
- (D.) 34.32

116. What is the ratio of urban working population to rural working population?

- (A.) 12 : 13
- (B.) 11 : 12
- (C.) 13 : 12
- (D.) 3 : 8

117. If urban working population of the region increased from 52% to 56% and percentage of self employed in urban region remains same, then number of self-employed people in urban areas are:

- (A.) 66840
- (C.) 62700
- (B.) 68640
- (D.) 67200

118. What is the total number of regular salaried employees of the region?

- (A.) 90,216
- (B.) 91,260
- (C.) 92,160
- (D.) 96,210

119. What is the percentage of regular salaried employees in rural areas corresponding to the number of casual wage workers in urban areas?

- (A.) 72.3%
- (B.) 79.8%
- (C.) 88.7%
- (D.) 92.3%

120. If 60% of the total working population of the region was self-employed in rural areas and 40% of total working population was self-employed in urban areas, then what is the ratio of rural self-employed to urban self-employed?

- (A.) 2 : 3
- (B.) 3 : 2
- (C.) 13 : 18
- (D.) 18 : 13

EXPLANATIONS

1. The passage describes the relationship between character and setting in contemporary literature as a nuanced dance where the setting, detailed and influential, becomes more than a backdrop but a character shaping the narrative.

Hence, option B is the correct answer.

2. In Jhumpa Lahiri's The Namesake, the barren desert landscape symbolizes the protagonist Gogol's sense of isolation and identity crisis in a foreign land.

Hence, option B is the correct answer.

3. In Shakespeare's Macbeth, the Scottish moors serve as an ever-present omen of the impending tragedy, casting a dark shadow over the characters' actions.

Hence, option C is the correct answer.

4. The term "interplay" in the passage refers to a complex relationship where the setting influences the plot and character development in literature.

Hence, option B is the correct answer.

5. The God of Small Things is described as having a lush, vibrant Kerala backwaters setting that is woven into the fabric of the story.

Hence, option B is the correct answer.

6. The main theme of the passage is (C) in literature, settings can be as influential as characters in shaping the narrative. It explores how the interplay between characters and settings forms a dynamic and influential relationship, debunking the notion that settings are insignificant in contemporary literature.

Incorrect because the passage highlights the intricate interplay between characters and settings, refuting a lack of interaction.

Incorrect as the passage asserts that settings are not insignificant but can be as influential as characters in shaping the narrative.

Incorrect as the passage emphasizes the active role of settings in character development, debunking the idea that settings have no role.

Hence, option C is the correct answer.

7. The central thesis of the passage revolves around the different perceptions and demands for justice, particularly focusing on the disparities between the expectations of the middle class and the poor. The author discusses how justice for one group may be perceived as injustice by another, highlighting the divergent visions of justice.

Hence, option B is the correct answer.

PREPARE FOR LAW EXAMS ON THE GO

8. The term "docket-excluded" is used in the passage to describe how the poor are treated within the justice system. It suggests that their cases are often neglected or not given proper attention, indicating a lack of priority in the court docket.

Option C and D are obvious eliminations. Option (B) does not capture the essence of "docket-excluded" precisely. It emphasizes that the poor's bail petitions or cases, which are not stated in the passage.

Hence, option A is the correct.

9. The third paragraph of the passage talks about the conflicting experiences that different segments of people have with the justice system. It highlights the disparities in the perception and treatment of the justice system for various socio-economic groups.

Option (C) "Conflicting" best describes the nature of these experiences. The passage indicates that there are divergent visions of justice, and what might be perceived as justice for one group could be seen as injustice by another. The conflicting interests and perspectives among different segments of society regarding the justice system are well-captured by the term "conflicting."

Hence, options C is the correct answer.

10. Option (A) states, "The judicial system reflects the same power relationships as those that exist in society." This statement aligns with the themes in the passage. The passage implies that there are disparities and conflicts within the justice system, and certain groups (such as the middle class or the poor) may have different experiences based on their socio-economic status. In the passage the author has expressed that, 'They are docket-excluded, a new type of untouchability' which is the very evidence of this option.

Option (B) is incorrect as we do not know author's stance on bias based on religion or caste, option B would have been correct only when author's views on caste based discrimination was stated in the passage. Thus, we cannot say whether will agree or disagree with option B.

Option (C) is too extreme based on the information presented in the passage and thus is incorrect.

Hence, options A is the correct answer.

11. The passage suggests that there are disparities and challenges in the justice system, indicating that the author is likely to disagree with the statement that the law ensures equality both in text and in practice.

Hence, option B is the correct answer.

12. The term 'neutral' in the context of judicial administration refers to reforms that do not favor or discriminate against any particular socio-economic or political group. Let's break down the options:

Option (A): While it would be positive for people across socio-economic strata to agree on the need for reform, the passage does not explicitly state this agreement. The term 'neutral' here refers more to the nature of the reforms themselves, rather than broad societal agreement.

Option (B): The passage does not mention consensus among political parties on judicial administration reforms. The term 'neutral' in this context is not about political consensus but about the impartiality and fairness of the reforms.

HAVE ANY DOUBT REGARDING YOUR CLAT PREPARATION?

WRITE TO US AT HELP@SMARTKEEDA.COM OR CALL US ON - 8979589366

Option (C): This is the correct answer. 'Neutral' in the context of judicial administration reforms means that the reforms are designed to be impartial and fair, not favoring one class of people over another. The passage suggests that judicial reform has focused on "neutral" areas like process reform, procedural law, technology, planning, and court and case management.

Option (D): While the passage does not explicitly state that reform is mandated by the constitution, the term 'neutral' here is more about the nature of the reforms, not the legal mandate behind them.

Therefore, option (C) is the most fitting explanation for why reform of judicial administration is considered a 'neutral' area in the context of the passage.

Hence, option C is the correct answer.

13. The protagonist expresses satisfaction with the barrenness and starkness of Carignano, emphasizing rocks, pines, light, and air. This suggests a preference for simplicity and minimalism.

Hence, option B is the correct answer.

14. The protagonist's reaction to the postman, with a cold stare and the desire to convey her need for solitude, indicates a dislike for disturbances and interruptions in her tranquil environment.

Hence, option B is the correct answer.

15. The protagonist's desire to be mistaken for a pine tree suggests a longing to merge with nature and shed her human identity, indicating a desire for a deeper connection with the natural world.

Hence, option D is the correct answer.

16. Although this was nowhere stated in the passage, still we have tried to answer on the basis of the ideas stated in the passage about the protagonist.

Describing the nestlings' screams as "shrill and maddening" suggests that the protagonist finds the sounds of the nestlings to be vexatious and irritating.

Hence, option C is the correct answer.

17. The passage indicates that the protagonist is content and fulfilled at Carignano. There is no evidence of constant restlessness (Statement I) or a sense of isolation and disconnection (Statement II).

Hence, option D is the correct answer.

18. The protagonist's satisfaction with the barrenness of Carignano and her desire to merge with nature suggest that nature plays a positive role in her life, providing solace, peace, and a sense of belonging.

Hence, option B is the correct answer.

19. This question asks about the greatest playwright, and the passage explicitly mentions that William Shakespeare is often hailed as the greatest playwright in the history of the English language

Hence, option C is the correct answer.

20. This question refers to Jane Austen's novel with social commentary and witty portrayal of romance, and the passage specifies that novels like Pride and Prejudice and Sense and Sensibility provide incisive social commentary through the lens of wit and romance. The correct answer is Sense and Sensibility.

Hence, option B is the correct answer.

21. This question asks about Romantic poets celebrating nature and intense human emotions. The passage mentions William Wordsworth and Samuel Taylor Coleridge as Romantic poets who celebrated the beauty of nature and emotional intensity of the individual.

Hence, option C is the correct answer.

22. This question is about the title of Virginia Woolf's novel with a modernist narrative style, and the passage indicates that it is Mrs. Dalloway.

Hence, option B is the correct answer.

23. This queries the 20th-century novel warning about totalitarianism, and the passage mentions George Orwell's Nineteen Eighty-Four.

Hence, option A is the correct answer.

24. The passage emphasizes that English literature is a vast and diverse field that has made an indelible mark on the world of letters. It mentions luminaries like William Shakespeare, Jane Austen, William Wordsworth, and modern authors like Virginia Woolf and George Orwell. These authors represent different time periods, genres, and themes, showcasing the diversity of English literature.

Furthermore, the passage notes that English literature explores an array of themes such as human nature, love, ambition, tragedy, social commentary, and the exploration of inner thoughts and lives. It spans from eloquent plays to complex novels and profound poetry, reflecting a wide range of styles and genres. Therefore, the enduring power of English literature, as highlighted in the passage, lies in its ability to encompass a rich variety of authors, themes, and styles that continue to captivate and inspire readers across the world. The diversity of voices and perspectives within English literature contributes to its timeless and universal appeal.

Hence, option B is the correct answer.

25. Hundreds of people protesting peacefully against the Rowlatt Act, which granted the British colonial administration repressive powers, were gunned down by British forces without any provocation on April 13, 1919, at Jallianwala Bagh in Punjab's Amritsar. (The Hindu)

Hence, option B is correct.

26. On April 13 1919 an event was held at Jallianwala Bagh to defy colonial orders and protest against the recently passed Rowlatt Bills. These Bills curtailed the civil liberties of Indians and let colonial forces arrest people without any warrant or trial. Sir Michael O'Dwyer imposed martial rule in Lahore and Amritsar on April 11, but the order reached Amritsar only on April 14. He also sent Colonel Dyer from the Jalandhar cantonment to Amritsar.

Dyer saw the assembly as a violation of government orders. "They had come to fight if they defied me and I was going to give them a lesson.....I was going to punish them. My idea from the military point of view was to make a wide impression," Dyer said to the Hunter Committee of 1920 (also termed the Report of Disorders Inquiry Committee) that was set up to investigate the disturbances across cities. It had a specific section discussing Dyer's actions. (Indian Express)

Hence, option C is correct.

35. The recent conflict between Israel and Palestine, known as the 'Gaza-Israel conflict', is the fifth war.

In 1948, Israel declared its independence, leading to a war with neighbouring Arab states.

Suez Crisis and Israeli invasion of the Sinai Peninsula in 1956.

Six-Day War of 1967

Yom Kippur War of 1973

Hence, option B is correct.

36. The current war started one day after the 50th anniversary of the start of the Yom Kippur War. The 2023 war started on a Saturday, when many Israelis stayed home to observe the Sabbath, while the 1973 war started on Yom Kippur, a holy day when many Israeli businesses are closed so they can go to synagogue and fast.

In 1973, the war, known to Israelis as Yom Kippur and to Arabs as the October War, started when Egypt and Syria launched a two-front attack on Israel to regain their territories lost in the 1967 Six-Day War when Israel captured the Sinai Peninsula in Egypt and Syria's Golan Heights.

Hence, option A is correct.

37. India's Chandrayaan-3 spacecraft successfully landed on the Moon on August 23, 2023, making India the fourth nation to achieve a soft lunar landing after the United States, China, and the former Soviet Union (now Russia). India also became the first country in the world to reach the lunar south pole.

Hence, option B is correct.

38. The Chandrayaan-3 spacecraft consists of three parts—the lander module, the propulsion module and a rover. The lander is designed to make a soft landing at a specific site on the Moon and deploy the rover. The rover will carry out a chemical analysis of the lunar surface. Both the lander and the rover carry many scientific payloads for experiments on the lunar surface.

Hence, option B is correct.

39. According to the passage, "Today, from trade to technology, India is among the countries standing in the first row. In this journey from third row to first row, institutions like ISRO have played a major role."

Hence, option C is correct.

40. Chandrayaan-3 is a follow-on to the unsuccessful Chandrayaan-2 mission, and it has the same objective—to demonstrate the capability of soft landing on the Moon by delivering a lander (Vikram) and a rover (Pragyaan) to the lunar surface.

Hence, option A is correct.

41. Addressing ISRO scientists virtually from Johannesburg, South Africa, Prime Minister Narendra Modi celebrated the Chandrayaan-3's soft landing on the Moon's surface, at ISRO headquarters in Bengaluru on August 23, 2023.

Hence, option D is correct.

Hence, option A is correct.

43. The G20 forum was established in 1999 by the finance ministers and central bank governors of seven countries – Canada, France, Germany, Italy, Japan, the U.K., and the U.S. after a meeting in Washington DC. The uniting factor was the 1997-98 financial crisis and its aftermath.

The representatives met in Berlin, Germany, for the first annual meeting of the group. The first meeting of G20 leaders took place in 1999, and it was elevated to the level of heads of government/State in 2008. In 2009, G20 was designated the “premier forum for international economic cooperation”.

The forum initially dealt with matters related to macroeconomics, but over the years, its agenda has expanded to cover issues relating to trade, climate change, sustainable development, health, agriculture, energy, environment, climate change, and anti-corruption.

Hence, option A is correct.

44. Prime Minister Narendra Modi handed over the gavel and offered best wishes to Brazil for the presidency in 2024. Brazil officially will take over the mantle of the presidency of the elite grouping on December 1 this year.

Hence, option C is correct.

45. Egypt is not a member of G20.

Hence, option A is correct.

46. India's special invitee guest countries are Bangladesh, Egypt, Mauritius, Netherlands, Nigeria, Oman, Singapore, Spain and UAE.

Hence, option C is correct.

47. The life of contradiction referred in the passage is ‘equality in politics but inequality in social and economic structure’. According to the passage, “In Politics, we will have equality and in social and economic structure, continue to deny the principle of one man one value.”

Hence, option A is correct.

48. As mentioned in the passage, according to Dr. Ambedkar, if we continue to deny equality in our social and economic life, we will do so only by putting our political democracy in peril.

Hence, option B is correct.

49. According to Dr. Ambedkar, “if things go wrong under the new constitution, the reason will not be that we had a bad Constitution. What we will have to say is that man was vile?” In other words, if things go wrong under the new Constitution, the reason will be that the men called upon to work the Constitution were not good.

50. Social democracy means “equality in social life” – a way of life, which recognizes liberty, equality and fraternity as the principles of life.

In India, the Directive Principles of State Policy seek to establish economic and social democracy in the country as they constitute a very comprehensive economic, social and political programme. They aim at realising the high ideals of justice, liberty, equality, and fraternity as outlined in the Preamble to the Constitution. They embody the concept of a ‘welfare state’.

The Fundamental Rights are meant to promote the idea of political democracy. They prevent the establishment of an authoritarian rule in the country and protect the liberties and freedoms of the people against the invasion by the State.

Hence, option C is correct.

51. According to the passage, a bad Constitution turns out to be good, when the people called upon to work it are good. The working of a Constitution does not depend wholly upon the nature of the Constitution.

Hence, option A is correct.

52. Dr. Ambedkar said, “ I feel that the Constitution is workable, it is flexible and it is strong enough to hold the country together both in peacetime and in wartime.”

Hence, option C is correct.

86. The passage explicitly mentions that words are neither an inanimate or an animate as entity. The best inference that we can derive regarding the symbolization of 'word' would be a concept that is intangible due to its 'ethereal' nature. Therefore, option D is the correct answer.

87. The passage explicitly mentions the fact that words absorb emotions and at the same time express warmth and coldness. The only option that aligns with the above contention is option B.

Therefore, it is the correct answer.

88. The claim expresses the idea that words facilitate a method to encounter and interact with the world in varied ways. This implies that words help us in expressing the world in myriad ways. Only option D aligns with this implication and therefore is the best plausible answer.

Hence, option D is the correct answer.

89. The claim expresses the idea that words help us to remove the darkness which can be symbolized with an enlightenment about knowledge. So, the best-inferred answer is that it helps in understanding reality. Option B can be rejected as answer only for the fact that the word 'illuminate' is used subjectively.

Hence, option A is the correct answer.

90. The author contends that the world within the word is the abode of faith which implies that words can create varied forms of captivating energy and inspiration. Option A matches with the above contention.

Hence, option A is the best answer.

91. The main argument of the author contends that the government should be proactive in AI regulation but depending on the condition that it develops domestic AI ecosystem. This is supported by the illustration of India's successful Chandrayan mission which is the reason that India is getting more international space collaborations. Therefore, the author would most likely agree with option D.

92. The passage explicitly mentions that the government's role is the key rather than waiting on some larger corporations to do the needful in efforts regarding the development of indigenous AI generative models. Therefore, option A logically strengthens the overall argument providing sufficient support to the overall contention.

Hence, option A is the correct answer.

93. The claim implies that courts have the righteous duty to adjudicate in the matters of AI usage and regulations without waiting for benchmark precedents to be set by stakeholders. Therefore, option A aligns with the author's claim.

Hence, option A is the correct answer.

94. The author argues that government, courts, and schools should change their mindset regarding AI since it is the future technology that can reorganize the way of doing things. So, it is necessarily true that collaborative effort would be required amongst the institutions of the state.

Option C aligns with the above contention and thereby is the correct answer.

95. Options A, B, C and D align with the author's contention that government needs to push for AI technologies at the domestic level. But option C can be rationally rejected due to the fact that generative models like Wu Dao which are developed in China would go against our goal of developing indigenous AI technology.

Therefore, option C is the correct answer.

96. The claim contends that India missed an opportunity in chip research and it should not miss the opportunity of developing AI technology indigenously. Therefore, the author would readily agree with the idea that India should proactively play a role in responding to new research in chip technology.

Hence, option C is the correct answer

97. There are multiple scenarios plausible but determining the correct answer requires correct critical analysis of the problem. Initially, investigation reveals that production efficiency is declining which can be attributed to the fact that there are frequent breakdowns in the machinery. Moreover, it is also contributing to quality issues. But knowing the fact that similar technology has helped the competitors to increase their productivity we can deduce the fact that breakdowns are caused by another prominent issue which can be perceived as lack of motivation and job satisfaction of the workforce leading to absenteeism as well. Moreover, the machinery requires specialized operators and if the workforce is not ready to work properly that means the company cannot leverage the new technology properly leading to quality issues. Therefore, the root cause of the problem is a lack of motivation and job satisfaction among the workforce rather than any other contributing problem.

Hence, option B is the correct answer.

98. The initial condition that the new production system requires highly specialized operators makes the new production system more vulnerable. Since the workforce is demotivated and is not focussing on the work to handle the machinery, it is bound to face breakdowns and efficiency is declining.

Hence, option B is the correct answer.

99. With similar technology providing competitors an advantage in production efficiency we can relate to the fact that there is an issue that is pondering the current company. Considering the root cause analysis, it is very clear that the company's workforce lacks motivation and job satisfaction. So, the main difference the company's situation and that of its competitors would be Option C.

100. It is evident in one of the points that absenteeism has been an issue due to a lack of motivation and job satisfaction. This might directly affect production in a negative aspect decreasing the total number of delays.

Therefore, option C is the correct answer.

101. Depending on the root cause of the problem it is very important that workforce must be motivated with the help of job satisfaction program if necessary. The machinery requires to be operated with highly specialized operators and therefore it is of utmost necessity that the workforce is managed properly.

Hence, option B is the correct answer.

102. There is a direct cause-effect relationship between customer complaints and the loss of customers and reputation damage.

Therefore, option C is the correct answer.

103.

(Rational Choice - Option D), (Provincial key answer- Option A)

The major contention of the passage lies around the idea that students have been vulnerable to situations where they have been facing challenges pertaining to incorrect marketing strategies, burdening of ambitions and hostile environment created by the coaching institutes. But there is no mention of the fact that different culture and background affects students in a detrimental way.

Therefore, option D is the correct answer.

104. The main contention revolves around the idea that our education system puts heavy weight on merit based on the examination which stresses the students. All the options A, C and D support this contention. Option B does not align with the opinion of the author regarding the education system.

Hence, option B is the correct answer.

105. In the passage, the author argues about how the Apex court has questioned and lamented the idea of merit. The nuanced view that strengthens this fact is that merit should not be confined to a single examination but should be evaluated over time in a multifaceted way. Option A matches the contention here and thereby is the correct answer.

106. The passage mentions the fact that marginalised communities and gender minorities face amplified hurdles due to competitive exams. So, definitely we can state that it is true to state that there are existing inequalities which are enlarged by the competitive examinations.

107. The author contends that technology is an equalizer in this uneven landscape created by coaching institutes. He further states that online platforms have provided a comfort to the students of preparing from their home. So, we can infer by common sense that these platforms encourage the students to prepare the examination from the comfort of their homes.

Therefore, option B is the correct answer.

108. The author has explicitly argued that online resources have been the boon for students who can access any educational resource with its aid. So definitely Option C cannot be the challenge for quality education but will rather act as a facilitator in quality education.

Therefore, option C is the correct answer.

(Ques no. 109-113)

Common explanation:

Total cars 8000

State 1:

Total cars = 15% of 8000 = 1200

$$\text{Diesel cars} = 1200 \times \frac{3}{3+4+1} = 450$$

$$\text{Petrol cars} = 1200 \times \frac{4}{3+4+1} = 600$$

$$\text{Electric cars} = 1200 \times \frac{1}{3+4+1} = 150$$

State 2:

Total cars = 20% of 8000 = 1600

$$\text{Diesel cars} = 1600 \times \frac{5}{5+3+2} = 800$$

$$\text{Petrol cars} = 1600 \times \frac{3}{5+3+2} = 480$$

$$\text{Electric cars} = 1600 \times \frac{2}{5+3+2} = 320$$

State 3:

Total cars = 30% of 8000 = 2400

$$\text{Diesel cars} = 2400 \times \frac{4}{4+5+3} = 800$$

$$\text{Petrol cars} = 2400 \times \frac{5}{4+5+3} = 1000$$

$$\text{Electric cars} = 2400 \times \frac{3}{4+5+3} = 600$$

State 4:

Total cars = 35% of 8000 = 2800

$$\text{Diesel cars} = 2800 \times \frac{7}{7+5+2} = 1400$$

$$\text{Petrol cars} = 2800 \times \frac{5}{7+5+2} = 1000$$

$$\text{Electric cars} = 2800 \times \frac{2}{7+5+2} = 400$$

109. Total electric cars in State 4 = 400

$$\text{Non-AC electric cars in State 4} = 400 \times \frac{100-45}{100} = 220$$

Hence, Option C is correct.

110. Petrol cars in State 2 = 480

Diesel cars in State 1 = 450

$$\text{So the answer} = \frac{480 - 450}{450} \times 100\% = 6.67\%$$

Hence, Option D is correct.

111. Diesel cars in State 4 = 1400

Electric cars in State 3 = 600

Reqd. ratio = 1400 : 600 = 7 : 3

Hence, Option A is correct.

112. Total electric cars = 150 + 320 + 600 + 400 = 1470

$$\text{So the answer} = \frac{1470}{8000} \times 100\% = 18.37\%$$

Hence, Option B is correct.

113. Petrol cars in State 3 = 1000

Diesel cars in State 1 = 450

So the answer = 1000 - 450 = 550

114. Hence, Option D is correct.

Total diesel cars = 450 + 800 + 800 + 1400 = 3450

$$\text{So the answer} = \frac{3450}{4} = 862.50$$

Hence, Option B is correct.

$$\text{Urban working population} = 3,00,000 - 1,44,000 = 1,56,000$$

$$1\% \text{ of urban working population} = \frac{1,56,000}{100} = 1,560$$

Rural area:

Self-employed person	Casual wage workers	Regular salaries employees
56%	32%	12%
$1,440 \times 56 = 80,640$	$1,440 \times 32 = 46,080$	$1,440 \times 12 = 17,280$

Urban area:

Self-employed person	Casual wage workers	Regular salaries employees
40%	12%	48%
$1,560 \times 40 = 62,400$	$1,560 \times 12 = 18,720$	$1,560 \times 48 = 74,880$

$$115. \text{Reqd. \%} = \frac{80,640 - 62,400}{62,400} \times 100\% = 29.23\%$$

Hence, Option A is correct.

$$116. \text{Reqd. ratio} = 1,56,000 : 1,44,000 = 13 : 12$$

Hence, Option C is correct.

117. Since the percentage of self employed remain same, self-employed must be increased in the same proportion (52 to 56).

$$\text{So the answer} = 62,400 \times \frac{56}{52} = 67,200$$

Hence, Option D is correct.

$$118. \text{Regular salaried employees of the region} = 17,280 + 74,880 = 92,160$$

Hence, Option C is correct.

$$119. \text{Reqd. \%} = \frac{17,280}{18,720} \times 100\% = 92.3\%$$

Hence, Option D is correct.

$$120. \text{Reqd. ratio} = 60\% \text{ of Total} : 40\% \text{ of Total} = 3 : 2$$
